It's all about choice

Memorable events call on the past as well as the future.
Welcome to magnificent Keele Hall.

If you're looking for a venue to add elegance and gravitas to a special event, Keele Hall is ideal. This historic Victorian mansion, one of Staffordshire's finest stately homes, was previously home to the Sneyd family and stands in hundreds of acres of lush parkland and immaculate gardens.

Today Keele Hall is the largest conference and banqueting venue in Staffordshire and provides the stunning setting for a year-round calendar of conferences, presentations and exclusive events including gala evenings, formal banquets and drinks receptions.

Banqueting and function rooms include the Ballroom, the Salvin Room and the beautiful galleried Old Library. The Great Hall, with its huge feature fireplace, is ideal for drinks on arrival. Smaller meeting rooms are available on our second floor for private meetings or break out space. The formal gardens host summer barbecues and team building.

Fine dining is a particular attraction at Keele Hall, with bespoke menus to suit any special occasion.
